Master of Arts in Economics
Concentration in Financial Economics

The core curriculum is designed to enhance the student’s abilities to use economic modeling to conduct applied analytical and econometric research. Additional course work allows students to develop expertise in financial instruments and management.

The degree can be completed on either a full-time or part-time basis. All required economics and finance courses are offered in the evening.

Curriculum

Prerequisites
ECON 210 Principles of Microeconomics
ECON 211 Principles of Macroeconomics
ECON 501 Introduction to Econometrics
FIRE 520 Financial Concepts of Management
MATH 200 Calculus with Analytic Geometry

Core Courses: 21 credits
ECON 604 Advanced Microeconomic Theory
ECON 607 Advanced Macroeconomic Theory
ECON 612 Econometrics
ECON 614 Mathematical Economics
ECON 617 Financial Markets
ECON 641 Econometric Time Series Analysis
ECON 642 Panel and Nonlinear Methods in Econometrics

Financial Economics Courses: 9 credits
FIRE 623 Financial Management
FIRE 635 Investments and Security Analysis
FIRE 650 Derivatives